Finally, an easy-to-use screening tool that helps teachers and therapists work together to identify children in preschool who may have sensory processing issues.

Preschool SENSE allows occupational therapists to help preschools to quickly identify children who may benefit from occupational therapy for sensory issues. It was developed with guidance from expert pediatric occupational and speech-language pathologists for use by preschool teachers.

Customized checklists fit the busy preschool classroom and playground. Complete instructions are included along with sample forms. Forms packets (Preschool SENSE Forms) are available separately and include enough forms to screen eight children.
